

Sniper one

Type de contenu : Texte

Type de médiation : sans médiation

Titre(s) : Sniper one : on scope and under siege with a sniper team in Iraq / Dan Mills

Auteur(s) : Mills, Dan (1968-....)

Editeur, producteur : New York : St. Martin's Press, 2008

Description matérielle : 1 vol. (XXVI-349 p.-[16] p. de pl.) : ill., carte ; 24 cm

ISBN : 978-0-312-53126-3
0-312-53126-5

Classification décimale Dewey : 956.705

Note sur la description bibliographique : Texte intégral

Notices biographiques des auteurs

Publisher description

Note sur le contenu : Illustrations view of al Amarah city centre from above its southern Edge, over a lynx helicopter gunner's shoulder The Cimic house compound beside the River Tigris Sniper platoon, 1PWRR. back row, left to right : H, smudge Des, Dv, Dan, Daz, Rob, Chris, Fitz, Ben and Ads. front row : Pikey, Longy, Oost, Sam, Harry, Redders and Louey Yours truly on the look-out for enemy activity on Cimic house's roof Article picturing rogue cleric Moqtada al-Sadr, pinned on The wall of sniper platoon's living quarters A typical roof-top scene post-battle House's swimming-pool Louey and Daz in the rear sangar An l96 sniper rifle with a simrad night sight The view of the oms building from behind the wall where Dan's men first returned fire at the enemy, on 18 April RPG alley View of the OMS building from the neighbouring park, a favoured launch location for enemy mortar teams Major Ken Tait on his return from a fighting patrol before He was banned from going out The remains of Daz's burned-out snatch after the 18 April contact The awesome AC-130 spectre gunship Chris, me and sgt Ian Caldwell in the driveway of Cimic house, preparing to leave on an arrest raid Chris snipes and des spots while concealed on a roof-top in downtown al Amarah

Sujet - Nom de personne : Mills, Dan (1968-....)

Sujet - Nom commun : Guerre d'Irak (2003-2011) -- Récits personnels britanniques
Snipers -- Grande-Bretagne

Forme, genre ou caractéristiques physiques : Biographie