

Bolt from the blue : as aerial combat becomes a distant memory, the emphasis in aircraft armament is now on the ground attack role, with growing demands for day and night all-weather precision weapon delivery against fixed and moving targets, the minimum of collateral damage and teh ability to out-range increasingly effective ground defences

Titre(s) : Bolt from the blue : as aerial combat becomes a distant memory, the emphasis in aircraft armament is now on the ground attack role, with growing demands for day and night all-weather precision weapon delivery against fixed and moving targets, the minimum of collateral damage and teh ability to out-range increasingly effective ground defences

Ensemble : ARMADA INTERNATIONAL n° 4/2005 02529793 01/08/2005

Auteur(s) : BRAYBROOK Roy M.

Adresse bibliographique : 2005

Description matérielle : 30-40 p. : couleur

Sujet(s) : MISSILE DE CROISIÈRE
MISSILE AIR-SOL
MISSILE ANTI-RADAR
MISSILE DE COMBAT TERRESTRE
BOMBE GUIDÉE