Résumé ou extrait : The New Economic Diplomacy, fifth edition, explores how states conduct their external economic relations, make domestic decisions, negotiate internationally and how these processes interact. It provides the reader with an understanding of – and the means with which to analyse – the processes of decision-making and negotiation in international economic relations and clarifies our understanding of ‘economic diplomacy’ and how it can be understood as consisting of ‘commercial diplomacy’, ‘negotiating international cooperation’, ‘economic statecraft’ and ‘economic sanctions’. To capture the emergence of new trends and the intensification of old ones, this new edition focuses on : Responses to geopolitics in economic diplomacy. The intensification of domestic pressures on decision-making in international economic relations. The weakening of multilateralism and emergence of a multipolar system. The continued importance of policy processes in responding to these challenges and.

Case studies to illustrate how this economic diplomacy is affected by different domestic and international settings. This book will be of interest to scholars and students of the decision-making processes in foreign economic policy, including those studying international relations, government, politics and economics. It will also appeal to practitioners, those working in NGOs and others wishing to understand how decisions are taken and negotiations conducted.
