

The Importance of culture

Type de contenu : Texte

Type de médiation : sans médiation

Titre(s) : The Importance of culture : soft skills for inter-agency, complex operations / Grazia Scoppio,...., Robin Schock,...

Auteur(s) : Scoppio, Grazia

Autre(s) auteur(s) : Schock, Robin
Institut de leadership des Forces canadiennes Kingston, Ont.
Canadian forces College Department of defence studies

Editeur, producteur : [Winnipeg] : Canadian defence Academy, Canadian forces leadership Institute, 2011

Description matérielle : 1 vol. (83 p.) : graph., tabl. ; 28 cm

Collection : Technical report

Appartient à la collection : Technical report

Classification décimale Dewey : 355.330 971
355.330 41

Note(s) : "May 2011"

Note sur les bibliographies et les index : Bibliogr. p. [71-75]. Notes bibliogr.

Note sur le contenu : Introduction. Background and rationale Aim and objectives Methodology Limitations Literature review. Definitions Modern missions and new approaches The requirement for soft skills Learning interventions Crucial component of culture Gaps in soft skills preparation Successful practices and proposed solutions Measurement of competency Summary Analysis of consultations. Written response Verbal consultations Key findings. Discussion, Recommendations and conclusion. Discussion Recommendations Summary and conclusion

Résumé ou extrait : To assess the effectiveness of 'soft skills' education and training (cultural awareness, communication, critical thinking, interpersonal skills and leadership) received by military personnel in preparation for inter-agency missions, a research project was conducted from July to December 2010, to uncover any gaps, recognize successful practices and identify which 'soft skills' are best acquired through training and education or through experience

Sujet - Nom commun : Soldats -- Éducation -- Recherche -- Canada

Soldats -- Formation -- Canada
Éducation interculturelle -- Canada
Enseignement militaire -- Canada
Communication interculturelle -- Canada
Multiculturalisme -- Canada
Leadership
Commandement des troupes
Forces armées canadiennes -- Gestion