

Dynamic european maritime clusters

Type de contenu : Texte

Titre(s) : Dynamic european maritime clusters [Texte imprimé]
Maritime forum, Norway and Dutch maritime network
ed. by prof. dr. ir. Niko Wijmolst in cooperation with European network of maritime clusters

Auteur(s) : Wijmolst, Niko

Autre(s) responsabilité(s) : Dutch maritime network (Éditeur commercial)
European network of maritime clusters (Éditeur commercial)
Maritim forum (Éditeur commercial)

Editeur, producteur : Paris : IOS press, 2006

Description matérielle : 151 p.
: 24 cm

ISBN : 1-58603-684-X

Autres classifications : NAB_07-015

Résumé ou extrait : Europe is a maritime superpower as its maritime sectors are leading in terms of market shares, innovative technology and global operations. However, European maritime industries are often fragmented, not only geographically, but also in terms of sectors and company size. In order to face the increasing global competition, in particular from the far East, Europe should address these constraints and create a more integrated network and market of all the european maritime sectors, industries and entrepreneurs : not so much to defend its position, but most of all to take advantage of the abundant growth opportunities in global markets.

Sujet(s) : Politique maritime cluster maritime