

International law and international politics

Type de contenu : Texte

Type de médiation : sans médiation

Type de support : Volume

Titre(s) : International law and international politics : foundations of interdisciplinary analysis / Alexander Orakhelashvili,...

Auteur(s) : Orakhelashvili, Alexander (19..-....)

Publication : Cheltenham Northampton (Mass.) : Edward Elgar Publishing

Date de copyright : C 2020

Description matérielle : 1 vol. (X-304 p.) ; 24 cm

Collection : Principles of international law

ISBN : 978-1-83910-643-9

1-83910-643-3

978-1-80392-852-4

EAN : 9781839106439 rel.

9781803928524 br.

Appartient à la collection : Principles of international law Cheltenham [etc.] Edward Elgar Publishing 2016

Classification décimale Dewey : 341

Note sur les bibliographies et les index : Bibliogr. p. 287-299. Notes bibliogr. Index

Résumé ou extrait : "This illuminating monograph examines analytical and practical aspects of the relationship between international law and international politics, providing a comprehensive analysis of the foundations on which both the international legal system and international politics rest. With an interdisciplinary perspective, Alexander Orakhelashvili compares and contrasts the methods of international legal reasoning with international relations as a discipline, focusing on timeless and central issues that connect the past, present and future. The book examines, through the use of both disciplines' methodology, some more specific areas such as public authority, global space, and peace, with the overall outcome that political contempt towards the international legal system could have unexpected and costly adverse political consequences. Examining a broad range of theories and literature, International Law and International Politics will be an invigorating read for academics, students and practitioners of international law, international relations, and diplomacy."

Sujet - Nom commun : Droit international -- Aspect politique
Relations internationales