

De Havilland Mosquito : inspired by the De Havilland's inter-war DH.88 Comet racer and DH.91 Albatross airliner, both of which shared its primarily wooden construction, the DH.98 was first proposed as a high-speed bomber, but initially entered service as a reconnaissance aircraft and was successfully employed in a variety of other roles

Titre(s) : De Havilland Mosquito : inspired by the De Havilland's inter-war DH.88 Comet racer and DH.91 Albatross airliner, both of which shared its primarily wooden construction, the DH.98 was first proposed as a high-speed bomber, but initially entered service as a reconnaissance aircraft and was successfully employed in a variety of other roles

Ensemble : SCALE AIRCRAFT MODELLING n° 8 Vol. 27 09561420 01/10/2005

Auteur(s) : NEWDICK Thomas

Adresse bibliographique : 2005

Description matérielle : 528-529 p. : couleur; noir et blanc

Sujet(s) : GRANDE-BRETAGNE
SECONDE GUERRE MONDIALE
AVION DE BOMBARDEMENT
AVION DE RECONNAISSANCE
AVION D'ATTAQUE AU SOL
D.H. 98 MOSQUITO (De Havilland)