

Harnessing space

Type de contenu : Texte

Type de médiation : sans médiation

Titre(s) : Harnessing space / edited, and with an introduction and commentary by Willy Ley

Auteur(s) : Ley, Willy (1906-1969)

Editeur, producteur : New York : Macmillan, London : Collier-Macmillan [1963]

Description matérielle : 314 p. : ill. ; 22 cm

Classification décimale Dewey : 629.4

Note sur les bibliographies et les index : Bibliogr. p. 304-306. Chronol. Glossaire. Index

Note sur le contenu : List of illustration List of tables Introduction Note on the text 1. The means: orbits and rockets 2. Artificial satellites as navigational aids 3. Weather research and artificial satellites 4. Communication satellites 5. Do the Russians plan a separate communications system? 6. Satellites for astronomical research 7. Man in orbit 8. The by-products of space research Epilogue: the race for space Appendixes. I, A listing of U.S. rockets with space capability. II, Chronology of meteorological-satellite events. III, Chronology of communication-satellite events Glossary of space terms Suggestions for further reading Index Acknowledgments

Résumé ou extrait : History and survey of the future purposes of our space-programs, based on U.S. government reports, and pointing up their peaceful applications

Sujet - Nom commun : Astronautique
Astronautique et civilisation

Forme, genre ou caractéristiques physiques : Ouvrages de vulgarisation