

Notice pdf - Next-generation homeland security

Type de contenu : Texte

Type de médiation : sans médiation

Titre(s) : Next-generation homeland security : network federalism and the course to national preparedness / John Fass Morton

Auteur(s) : Morton, John Fass (1947-....)

Editeur, producteur : Annapolis (Md.) : Naval Institute press, cop. 2012

Description matérielle : 1 vol. (XIII-408 p.) : carte ; 23 cm

ISBN : 978-1-61251-088-0
1-61251-088-4

EAN : 9781612510880 br.

Classification décimale Dewey : 327.117 097

Note sur les bibliographies et les index : Bibliogr. p. [391]-398. Notes bibliogr. Index

Note sur le contenu : pt. 1. The homeland security discipline: from national security to national preparedness. The evolution of emergency management and preparedness ; Counterterrorism: an overseas tactic of choice comes ashore on the homeland ; The political dynamics behind the creation of the Department of Homeland Security ; DHS and the politics of national preparedness ; DHS pre-Katrina : moving left of the boom ; Right of the boom: PKEMRA, the backstory ; The new FEMA: the DHS executive agent for preparedness ; DHS OPS, FEMA, and the mandate for operational planning ; The homeland security enterprise: toward a network governance pt. 2. Network federal governance as the security and resilience enabler. The intergovernmental dimensions of the homeland security enterprise ; The case for a regionally based national preparedness system ; The fulcrum of network federal security governance : the regional preparedness staff ; Moving toward an intergovernmental homeland security professional cadre ; Homeland Security professional development ; IPA rotational assignments : the means for a network federal homeland security workforce ; Credentialing

Résumé ou extrait : Présentation de l'éditeur : "Positing that the 20th century system of federal-centric governance no longer provides for American security, the author makes the case for a next-generation homeland security transformation. He provides an inside view of the political dynamics behind the creation of the Department of Homeland Security and the development of the National Preparedness System and focuses on the emerging belief that the nation must advance beyond the interagency model dominated by Washington, D.C. and the federal agencies' security relationships with state and local governments and the private sector. Introducing a 21st century governance paradigm called Network

Federalism, the author charts the course to next-generation homeland security via statutorily empowered and decentralized intergovernmental staffs in the ten federal regions."

Sujet - Collectivité : Etats-Unis Department of Homeland Security.

Sujet - Nom commun : Sécurité nationale -- États-Unis

Terrorisme -- Lutte contre -- États-Unis

Gestion des situations d'urgence -- États-Unis