

The ministry of fear

Type de contenu : Texte

Type de médiation : sans médiation

Type de support : Volume

Titre(s) : The ministry of fear : an entertainment / Graham Greene ; introduction by Alan Furst

Auteur(s) : Greene, Graham (1904-1991)

Autre(s) responsabilité(s) : Furst, Alan (Préfacier)

Publication : New York : Penguin, 2005

Description matérielle : 1 vol. (XIV-201 p.) : couv. ill. ; 20 cm

Collection : Penguin classics

ISBN : 978-0-14-303911-2
0-14-303911-3

Appartient à la collection : Penguin classics

Classification décimale Dewey : 940.530 942

Note sur les bibliographies et les index : Bibliogr. p. [XIII]-XIV

Résumé ou extrait : For Arthur Rowe, the trip to the charity fête was a joyful step back into adolescence, a chance to forget the nightmare of the Blitz and the aching guilt of having mercifully murdered his sick wife. He was surviving alone, outside the war, until he happened to win a cake at the fête. From that moment, he is ruthlessly hunted by Nazi agents and finds himself the prey of malign and shadowy forces, from which he endeavors to escape though his mind remains obstinately out of focus

Sujet - Nom commun : Guerre mondiale (1939-1945)

Forme, genre ou caractéristiques physiques : Roman anglais